INTRODUCTION.

Four years having elapsed since the publication of the last Return relating to Foreign Import Duties (Parliamentary Paper, No. 178 (I), of Session 1885), and various alterations having been made in the Customs tariffs of different countries from time to time during that period, it has been considered expedient to present to Parliament a further Return in continuation of that above referred to, embodying all the changes which have been made up to date. This appeared more especially to be necessary in view of the approaching expiration of various European commercial treaties, and in order to afford those interested in the trade of the country a means of properly following the changes which may be proposed in the various tariffs as the result of the lapse of those treaties, and of comparing such proposals, and the changes which may eventually be made with the duties existing at the present time. The appended Return has accordingly been prepared, and every effort has been made in order to ensure accuracy as far as possible. The Return is, however, incomplete in two very important particulars, the first being in regard to the United States, and the second in regard to Russia. With respect to the United States, the new tariff Act of that country has only recently received Presidential sanction, and it did not come into operation until the 6th October. It was not possible, therefore, to include the new duties in the body of the Return, as it was already near completion when the new Act was put in force, but full particulars as to the duties on all classes of goods as fixed by the Act, have been printed as an Appendix, and will be found at page 277. The duties which are given in the body of the Return are those which were leviable under the tariff which has just been superseded, and these may still be useful as a record, and for the purpose of comparison with the new duties. With regard to Russia it has to be stated that, in accordance with an Imperial decree published on the 20th August (1st September) last, the duties leviable under the whole of the sections of the tariff of that country, with the exception of those relating to coal and to a few articles of small importance to British trade, have been augmented by 20 per cent. This change was made at a time when the revision of the Return was already much advanced, and in this case also it has not been considered desirable to delay the issue of the book in order to make the necessary alterations in the various rates of duty. It is to be understood, therefore, that all the duties mentioned in the following pages as being chargeable in Russia under the tariff laws o that country, require to be increased by 20 per cent., the only exception being in the case of coal. Coal imported at ports of the Black Sea and Sea of Azov will, under the decree above mentioned, pay 40 per cent. additional to the duties stated at page 210, but if imported at other parts of European Russia the duties remain at the rates given in the Return without any addition.

The various changes which have taken place since the issue of the last Return in the rates of foreign import duties upon the produce and manufactures of the United Kingdom result from (a) alterations made from time to time in the classification of, or duties on, articles classed under particular sections of the different tariffs, such as are mentioned below in the case of Russia, Sweden, &c.; (b) entire tariff revisions as in the case of Portugal, Italy, and Austria-Hungary; (c) alterations in Excise laws affecting also the import duties leviable; (d) direct negotiations between the United Kingdom and other countries, as in the case of the treaties concluded with Spain, Greece, and Roumania; and (e) commercial arrangements containing special tariff clauses made between foreign powers of which the advantage has also been reaped by this country under the most-favoured-nation article in its treaties with those powers. Among such arrangements may be mentioned those which have been concluded between Germany and Switzerland, Spain and Italy, Italy and Austria-Hungary, Switzerland and Italy, Austria-Hungary and Switzerland, and Roumania and Germany. Changes in foreign tariffs are published in the "Board of Trade Journal" * as soon as possible after information of such changes has been received.

It will be observed, upon comparing this with the former Return, that the tendency in the period between the issue of the two has on the whole been towards an increase rather than a reduction in the duties chargeable upon British goods, and it may be interesting to quote a few of the more important differences.

Russia.—All the alterations which have been made in the Russian import duties since the issue of the previous Return have been in the nature of additions to the rates then levied. The principal of these alterations are the following:—

Coal and coke: there have been two separate alterations in the duties on coal and coke; the first in July 1886, and the second in July 1887. At the date of the last Return the duties were ½ cop. per poud at Baltic ports, 2 cop. at Black Sea ports,

* This is a monthly publication of the Board of Trade, containing a variety of commercial information extracted from official and other sources. Copies may be obtained through Messrs. Eyre & Spottiswoode's office for the sale of Parliamentary Papers in East Harding-street, London, E.C., at a price of 6 d. per monthly number.

and 1½ cop. along the land frontier; they are now 1 cop. per poud at Baltic ports, 3 cop. at Black Sea and Azov ports, and 2 cop. along the land frontier, with the addition, in the case of imports by the Black Sea and Azov ports, of the extra 40 per cent. duty, recently made, which has been mentioned above. In June and July 1887 additions were made to the duties on iron and steel and various manufactures thereof, motive machinery, ships and boats, hops, and tobacco. About the same time, also, an alteration was made in the method of assessing the duties on cotton thread for sewing or knitting, whereby the duties are now levied upon the gross weight instead of upon the net weight as formerly. The rate for pig iron has been raised from 15 cop. to 25 cop. per poud; on iron or steel in bars from 40 cop. to 50 cop. per poud; on iron or steel in sheets or plates, and on coarse iron castings, from 60 cop. to 70 cop. per poud; on iron and steel smiths' work from 90 cop. to 1 rbl. 20 cop. per poud; and the duties on cast-iron wares worked or painted, boiler work of iron or steel, certain finished iron or steel wares, tools of iron and steel, and agricultural implements, have in each case been raised from 1 rbl. 20 cop. to 1 rbl. 40 cop. per poud. On steam machinery other than locomotives the duties have also been increased from 1 rbl. 20 cop. to 1 rbl. 40 cop. per poud, and those on locomotive machinery from 1 rbl. 40 cop. to 2 rbl. per poud. The tariff classification of ships and boats, and the rates of duty thereon, have been entirely re-arranged. On hops there has been an increase from 1 rbl. 45 cop. to 10 rbl. per poud; and on cigars and cigarettes from 2 rbl. 40 cop. to 3 rbl. 20 cop. per funt, and on other manufactured tobacco from 1 rbl. to 1 rbl. 30 cop. per funt. Later in the same year, i.e., in November 1887, increases were made in the duties upon a variety of articles, among which were included agricultural machinery, dried and salted fish, sewing and knitting cotton, twisted cotton yarns, cabinetmakers' wares in the rough, lace of all kinds, buttons, glass beads, &c. A further alteration in regard to cotton yarns and sewing thread was made in June of this year, the whole effect of the alterations in the cotton yarn duties since the date of the last Return being that whereas single and twisted yarns formerly paid the same rates, and were charged with duty according as they were above or below No. 45 English, three classes of single yarns are tariffed instead of two, and separate classes have been opened for twisted yarns and sewing thread. Single yarns of and below No. 40 now pay the same duties as those previously paid by all kinds of and below No. 45; yarns between Nos. 40 and 50 pay the duties hitherto applicable to all above No. 45; and yarns above No. 50, which formerly paid 5 rbl. per poud for unbleached, and 6 rbl. per poud for bleached or dyed, now pay 7 rbl. 50 cop. and 8 rbl. 50 cop. for these descriptions respectively. Within the same time the rates for sewing thread have gone up from 6 rbl. to 8 rbl. per poud; and twisted cotton yarns, which formerly paid various rates up to 6 rbl. per poud, according to fineness, and whether unbleached, bleached, or dyed, now pay a uniform duty of 10 rbl. per poud. On hand-made lace of cotton, wool, or linen, and silk lace of all kinds, the increase in duty has been from 3 rbl. 95 cop, to 6 rbl. 60 cop. per funt. In May 1888 an Excise duty was imposed on matches, which is leviable also on matches imported, and the rates chargeable are accordingly given in the Return. Early in 1889 alterations were made in the duties on railway and tramway rolling stock. Further alterations came into force on the 1st January of this year, involving increases in the duties on woollen and worsted yarns, and various other articles of less importance to British trade. The rates for woollen and worsted yarns of all kinds were formerly 7 rbl. 50 cop. per poud for undyed and 9 rbl. per poud for dyed yarns; in place of which two classes have now been made: (a) for single yarns paying 9 rbl. per poud for undyed and 10 rbl. 50 cop. for dyed, and (b) for twisted yarns paying 10 rbl. 50 cop. per poud for undyed and 12 rbl. for dyed. Quite recently, viz., in August last, additions were made to the import duties on raw and refined sugar to the extent of 1 rbl. per poud. But over and above all these there is the uniform addition of 20 per cent. to the duties already referred to as having been enacted too late for incorporation with the duties stated in the Return, and which has been made according to the Imperial Decree announcing the change, in consequence of the alteration which has taken place in the relative values of the gold and credit roubles. The Russian Customs duties, it may be added, are payable in gold.

It may also be stated here that according to the Russian postal regulations all letters and packets coming from abroad and containing articles of the smallest value, which may be liable to duty, are subject to confiscation unless a full description of the contents be written on the outside, even photographs and Christmas cards being liable to duty. On the other hand, although not strictly a matter in connection with this Return, mention may be made of the fact that in June 1888 the free importation into Siberia of foreign goods was permitted for a specified period, extending in the case of imports by the mouth of the River Yenesei to the navigation season of 1892.

Sweden.—The alterations which have been made in the Swedish tariff are very much less both in extent and in amount than those in the Russian. They are mainly confined to increases on twisted yarns of cotton, linen, and jute, iron goods and spirits. Twisted cotton yarns formerly paid the same rates of duty as single yarns, viz., 15 öre and 30 öre per kilog. for undyed and dyed respectively; they now pay 20 öre per kilog. for undyed and 35 öre for dyed. The additions to the rates on twisted linen yarns are, however, more considerable, amounting as they do to 20 öre per kilogramme (about 11 s. 4 d. per cwt.), and the duties on twisted jute yarns have also been raised. Unbleached jute tissues which were formerly free of duty now pay 10 öre per kilog, and cement which was also free formerly now pays a duty of 40 öre per 100 kilos. On iron goods the chief increases are in regard to iron or steel in ingots or blooms, and wrought bars, both free formerly but now paying 2 kr. and 2 kr. 50 öre per 100 kilos. respectively; and on sheet and plate iron, also free formerly, but now paying duties from 3 kr. to 6 kr. per 100 kilos. according to thickness, and whether polished, galvanised, or not. The tariff classification of spirits and liqueurs has also been re-arranged, and the rates of duty increased.

Norway.—The Norwegian tariff has remained virtually unchanged, the only alterations being in regard to sugar, spirits, tobacco, and hops, and these being comparatively unimportant in amount except as regards tobacco. Cigars and cigarettes formerly paid 2 kr. 75 öre per kilog. but now pay 3 kr. 60 öre, and other manufactured tobacco now pays 2 kr. 10 öre per kilog. instead of 1 kr. 50 öre, as heretofore.

Denmark.—The Danish import duties are identical with those published in the last Return, and there has now been no change in the tariff of this country for many years.

Germany.—The alterations in the German duties since the date of the last Return are few in number, and are partly the result of the treaty concluded between that power and Switzerland in 1888. In consequence of this treaty reductions have been effected in the duties on silk yarns, cotton embroideries, watches, and watch works, and a few other articles; additions have, however, been made to the duties on raw sugar and spirits. On the latter the increase has been considerable, viz., from 80 mks. per 100 kilos. for all kinds to 125 mks. for arrack, cognac, and rum, imported in casks, and to 180 mks. for all other spirits.

Holland.—There has been no alteration in the tariff of this country since the date of the last Return.

Belgium.—So far as the articles included in this Return are concerned the alterations in the Belgian import duties since 1886 are confined to vinegar and sugar. Vinegar formerly paid 6 frs. per hectolitre when imported in casks, and 7 frs. per hectolitre when imported in bottle, whilst the duties are now charged according to degree of acidity, and amount to 75 frs. per hectolitre for qualities containing pure acetic acid to the extent of from 8 to 40 per cent. The alterations in the sugar duties only took place in June last, and are in the nature of very slight reductions.

France.—In France also the alterations which have taken place since 1886 are few in number. Beyond increases on salt and sugar the only alteration of importance has been the abolition of the Excise duty on paper which was previously charged on imports as well as on home manufactured paper. Unrefined salt now pays 2 frs. 40 cts. per 100 kilos. as against the previous duties of 2 frs. 10 cts. at Atlantic and Channel ports and 60 cts. at Mediterranean ports. The addition to the duties leviable on sugar, both raw and refined (other than candy) amounts to 10 frs. per 100 kilos., and on candy the increase is 10 frs. 70 cts. The duties on molasses have also been raised and the classification of heavy oils and petroleum residues, has been altered so that they now pay 12 frs. per 100 kilos. instead of 6 frs. On the other hand the allowance for shrinking made on the importation of bleached cotton twists, in hanks, was raised in June 1888 from 2 per cent. to 5 per cent.

Portugal.—A revised tariff for Portugal came into force in September 1887. In this the general and conventional tariffs have been amalgamated, and the additional duties for Custom House fees and for harbour works have been combined with the rates of duty. The conventional duties are, however, also distinguished in a separate column, and in all cases where conventional rates are leviable these have been stated in the appended Return, and foot-notes added showing the effect of the additions to them on account of the extra duties for Custom House fees and harbour works. It has to be stated too, that additional rates to the extent of 7 per cent. have been imposed upon all articles not subject to conventional duties, 1 per cent. being added by law of July 1889, and a further 6 per cent. by law of 30th July of this year; that a charge is made on all goods, free or otherwise, for porterage in the Custom House; that all articles free of import duty are to pay the tax of 2 per cent. ad valorem for harbour works; and also that articles comprised in the free list which are not made free by Treaty are still to pay the "additional" duty of 6 per cent. established by the law of April 1882. Among such articles which are described in the Portuguese tariff and in this Return as free, but which pay this 6 per cent. rate, are unmanufactured copper and brass, broken glass, parchment, leather refuse, raw india-rubber or gutta percha, printed books, paper pulp and rags for paper making, arsenic, chloride of lime, borax, nitrate of soda, turpentine, rosin, cement, fireclay, unmounted millstones or grindstones, roofing slates, shell fish, horses, and indigo. Vinegar, spirits, and beer, and other articles not comprised in this Return remain subject to the special consumption duties in force at Lisbon when imported at that port, and to the "imposto do real de agua" when imported at other ports.

The revision of the tariff classifications makes it difficult to institute any minute comparison with the former duties, but it may be noticed that some slight additions have been made to the duties on cotton and ordinary woollen yarns, while those on linen yarns and on woollen yarns for embroidery have been decreased; that the rates for close woven cotton tissues, bleached and unbleached, have been raised, as also have those on cast-iron tubes, ordinary cutlery, common earthenware, india-rubber wares, writing paper, various alkalis and bleaching materials, spirits, manufactured tobacco, &c.

Spain.—The considerable differences observable upon a comparison of this and the former Return in the rates of Customs duty leviable in Spain result almost entirely from the operation of the Anglo-Spanish Commercial Treaty of 1886, which by according most-favoured-nation treatment to British goods placed such goods under the Spanish "Conventional" tariff instead of under the "General" tariff as formerly. The Treaty has now been in operation so long that it seems unnecessary to refer to the reductions in duty which it caused, more especially as a full comparative statement of the two tariffs (general and conventional) has already been published. (See House of Commons Paper, No. 161, of Session 1885.)

The lapse of the Commercial Treaty between Spain and Portugal in 1887 caused certain increases to be made in the duties on salted fish, but beyond this and additions to the duties on raw and refined petroleum, there have been no alterations of importance in the conventional rates leviable since the date of the Return above referred to.

Italy.—A new Customs tariff for Italy came into force on the 1st March 1888, on the lapse of the Italian Commercial Treaties. In this tariff the classification of a number of articles was extended and the rates of duty throughout were considerably increased. Some modifications in them have since been effected by the conclusion of new treaties between Italy and Austria-Hungary, Spain, and Switzerland, but a comparison of the present rates with those existing at the date of the previous Return will show that on the whole the duties are now much higher than formerly. This is especially the case in regard to cotton yarns and tissues, printed linen tissues, woollen yarns and tissues, the various descriptions of iron and steel wares, machinery, cutlery, &c., the alterations in classification and increase in duty being too numerous to quote in detail.

Austria-Hungary.—Considerable alterations in the Austro-Hungarian import duties have also been made since the date of the last Return in consequence of the issue of a new tariff in June 1887. Some modifications of a minor character in the duties leviable under this tariff resulted from the conclusion of a new treaty with Italy in 1888, and further reductions were effected by the Austro-Swiss Treaty concluded early in 1889. Among the articles upon which duties have been increased are bleached and dyed cotton yarns (single or double), woollen and worsted yarns, all kinds of common cotton tissues, certain descriptions of sheet and plate iron, locomotive machinery, fine wares of copper, brass, lead, tin, and zinc, and several others. Although the alterations in the tariff of this country have not been so extensive either in respect of classification or rates of duty as those in the Italian tariff, they are still too numerous to be referred to at length.

Switzerland.—A revised tariff for Switzerland has also come into force since the issue of the last Return, but in this case the alterations made are not nearly so numerous as those in the Italian and Austrian tariffs. Proposals for a further tariff revision are now under consideration. Comparing this Return with its predecessor, the principal alterations are the following, the duties stated being those leviable per 100 kilogrammes:—Cotton yarns prepared for retail sale increased from 20 frs. to 35 frs.; cotton tissues, bleached, dyed, or printed, from 25 frs. to 35 frs.; ready-made clothing of silk from 100 frs. to 150 frs.; coloured or varnished tiles or bricks from 1 fr. 50 c. to 2 frs.; elastic tissues from 30 frs. to 40 frs.; beer and ale in casks from 3 frs. 50 c. to 4 frs.; lucifer and wax matches from 5 frs. to 20 frs.; cigars and cigarettes from 100 frs. to 150 frs.; and other manufactured tobacco from 50 frs. to 75 frs. On the other hand reference may be made to the conclusion of treaties between Switzerland and Germany, Austria-Hungary, and Italy, which brought about some slight tariff reductions. Among these were silvered and unsilvered plate glass, small sizes, reduced from 16 frs. to 14 frs., and furniture of bent wood, not stuffed, from 16 frs. to 12 frs.; but it may be added that the duties on the following articles would have been slightly higher than they now are if the treaties above mentioned had not been concluded, viz., ready-made clothing of cotton, silk, or half-silk; elastic tissues; men's hats; Portland cement; thrown silk; and beer in casks. Mention may also be made of the Government Decree of 27th June 1889, which accorded to Swiss exporters of condensed milk a drawback of 5 frs. per 100 kilos. in respect of the sugar contained therein.

Greece.—A revised tariff for Greece came into force on the 9th November 1886, but this has since been modified in several important particulars. The first of these modifications took place about the middle of the year 1887, and further changes were made by a law which came into force on the 14th February 1889, and which affected the duties on a variety of articles.

These alterations were followed by the Anglo-Greek Treaty of this year, which brought about considerable reductions in the duties on some of the most important articles of British manufacture. The treaty has been printed as a Parliamentary Paper ([c. 5974] and [c. 6045] of Session 1890), and it is not therefore necessary to quote its provisions here As far as this Return is concerned, however, the principal differences between it and the previous one as regards Greece are the reductions caused by the treaty referred to, viz., those on cotton yarns, and tissues of cotton, linen, hemp, jute, and wool. The most important articles upon which duties have been increased since the date of the last Return are common window glass, common glass wares, raw hides, certain shoemakers' wares, leather gloves, india-rubber wares, printing paper, sugar, molasses, bleaching materials, and tobacco.

Turkey.—The provisional arrangement which was in force at the date of the last Return, and under which a duty of 8 per cent. ad valorem is levied on all imports into Turkey from this country, is still in operation pending the elaboration of a new tariff and the conclusion of a new Anglo-Turkish Treaty.

Bulgaria.—This principality appears in the Return for the first time, mainly in consequence of the conclusion of an agreement whereby imports from the United Kingdom will in future pay an ad valorem duty at the rate of 8 per cent. on all articles, except as regards salt, alcohol, gunpowder, and tobacco. The duties which are leviable upon each of these will be found in the Return.

Roumania.—The present Roumanian customs tariff came into force in 1886, but since the issue of that tariff Roumania has concluded new treaties with the United Kingdom, Germany, Russia, and Turkey, each of which, especially the two former, have effected modifications in the duties which would otherwise have been leviable. A comparison of the duties given in this Return with those which were in force previous to the present tariff coming into operation, will show that considerable increases have been made in the duties on most classes of goods.

United States.—As above stated, the duties given in the body of this Return are those which were chargeable under the tariff of 1883, and they ceased to have effect after the 4th October. A full statement of the duties leviable under the new Act will be found in the Appendix, page 277. Reference may, however, be made to the recent Act (known as the McKinley Administrative Act) amending the law relating to the collection of the Customs revenue. This Act considerably increases the severity of the regulations respecting the declarations required from importers, and also provides that in cases where ad valorem duties are leviable the value of "all cartons, cases, crates, boxes, sacks, and coverings of any kind" shall be included in the value upon which duty is assessed.
